

Trillium Dental Expands Ottawa Dental Services to Seven Locations, Making Accessible Care Available Across the City

June 16, 2026

OTTAWA, ON - June 16, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Trillium Dental has expanded its Ottawa dental network to seven clinic locations, distributing accessible dental care across the city and reducing the travel burden that has historically prevented some residents from maintaining consistent oral health appointments. The seven-location footprint positions Trillium Dental as one of the more geographically distributed dental practices in Ottawa, with clinics serving patients across the city's east, west, south, and central communities.

Access to dental care in urban centres is shaped less by the total number of practitioners than by their geographic distribution relative to the patient population. A concentration of clinics in one area of the city leaves residents in other communities with fewer nearby options, increasing appointment travel time and reducing the likelihood that patients without reliable transportation will attend regular preventive care visits. Distributing clinic locations across Ottawa's distinct communities addresses that access gap by placing professional dental care within a practical distance of a broader cross-section of the city's population.

The expansion to seven locations also reflects the operational investment required to staff, equip, and maintain multiple clinical environments to a consistent standard of care. Multi-location dental practices that maintain quality consistency across all sites require standardized clinical protocols, shared administrative systems, and staff training that applies equally regardless of which location a patient visits. For patients who move between locations based on scheduling availability or proximity, that consistency ensures continuity of care regardless of which clinic they attend.

"Expanding to seven locations is about making sure that geography does not become a barrier to dental care in Ottawa," said Dr. Mark Northcott of Trillium Dental. "Patients who have a clinic close to where they live or work, are more likely to keep their appointments and maintain the preventive care routine that keeps small dental issues from becoming larger ones. The expansion is built around that practical reality."

Trillium Dental provides a comprehensive range of services for patients registered with a Dentist Ottawa practice across its seven clinic locations, covering preventive care, restorative dentistry, cosmetic procedures, orthodontics, and emergency dental services. The breadth of that service offering allows patients to address multiple dental needs within the same practice network rather than seeking referrals to separate providers for different treatment categories. That continuity of care within a single practice network supports better patient record management and reduces the coordination friction associated with multi-provider care.

The network includes Dental Clinics in Kanata serving residents in Ottawa's western communities, where suburban growth over the past two decades has increased the residential population and the associated demand for local professional services. Kanata's growth as a technology employment hub has also produced a working population with scheduling constraints that make proximity to dental services a practical priority. A clinic within the Kanata community reduces the mid-day or end-of-day commute that patients in that area would otherwise face when accessing dental care in the city core.

The network's presence as a Nepean Dental Centre extends Trillium Dental's coverage into Ottawa's south-central communities, where established residential neighbourhoods and a significant portion of the city's family demographic create consistent demand for comprehensive dental services. Nepean's proximity to commercial corridors and community amenities makes a dental clinic in that area accessible to patients, allowing them to combine appointments with other errands and reduce the standalone travel that can make dental visits feel logistically burdensome for busy families.

About Trillium Dental: Trillium Dental is an Ottawa-based dental practice network operating seven clinic locations across the city. Led by Dr. Mark Northcott, the practice provides preventive, restorative, cosmetic, orthodontic, and emergency dental services to patients throughout Ottawa, including Kanata, Nepean, Alta Vista, Orléans, and Stittsville. Trillium Dental's multi-location structure is designed to make consistent, professional dental care accessible to Ottawa residents, regardless of which part of the city they call home.
