Positive Group LLC Publishes Comprehensive Herpes Diagnosis Guide for Newly Diagnosed Adults

June 12, 2026

Chicago, Illinois - June 12, 2026 -
Positive Group LLC, operator of Meet Positives, has published an educational resource designed to support adults who have recently been diagnosed with herpes simplex virus (HSV). The comprehensive guide provides practical steps for managing the initial emotional impact of diagnosis while offering evidence-based information about living with the condition.

The new resource addresses common concerns that arise immediately following an HSV diagnosis, including understanding the medical facts, communicating with healthcare providers, processing emotional responses, preparing for partner disclosure, and finding supportive communities. According to World Health Organization statistics cited in the guide, 3.7 billion people under age 50 have HSV-1, while approximately 491 million people aged 15 to 49 have HSV-2 globally.

"When someone is first Diagnosed With Herpes, they often feel isolated and overwhelmed by misinformation," said Michael Task, spokesperson for Positive Group LLC. "This guide provides clear, factual information to help individuals understand that herpes is a manageable condition that millions of people live with successfully. The resource emphasizes that an HSV diagnosis does not define someone's worth or limit their ability to form meaningful relationships."

The educational material outlines five essential steps for individuals navigating a new diagnosis. These include understanding the medical facts about herpes, discussing treatment options with healthcare providers, allowing time for emotional processing, learning about disclosure practices, and connecting with supportive communities. The guide emphasizes that herpes is not life-threatening, that outbreaks typically become less frequent over time, and that effective antiviral medications are available.

The resource publication aligns with Positive Group LLC's mission to reduce stigma around sexually transmitted infections while providing practical support for affected individuals. The company maintains both web-based and mobile platforms that offer matching services, community forums, relationship advice, and educational content specifically tailored for people living with STIs.

Meet Positives operates as a dating site for people with herpes and other sexually transmitted infections, providing a platform where individuals can connect without fear of rejection or stigma related to their diagnosis. The platform uses specialized matching algorithms to connect members based on shared conditions, geographic proximity, and personal preferences. Members can access discussion forums, share experiences, and build relationships in an environment designed specifically for their needs.

"The stigma surrounding herpes often causes more distress than the physical symptoms themselves," Task explained. "By providing accurate information and fostering open dialogue, we help individuals realize they can maintain fulfilling romantic lives and relationships after diagnosis. Our platform demonstrates that having herpes does not limit someone's capacity for love, intimacy, or partnership."

Positive Group LLC operates Meet Positives as a specialized dating and community platform for individuals living with sexually transmitted infections. The service provides matching algorithms, community support forums, educational resources, and mobile applications designed to create a stigma-free environment for positive singles seeking meaningful connections.
