

Ryan & Gordy's Glass Advises Drivers on Choosing OEM-Quality Glass for Auto Glass Repair and Replacements

June 18, 2026

HASTINGS, MN - June 18, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Ryan & Gordy's Glass encourages vehicle owners in Minnesota and Wisconsin to consider the differences between OEM-quality and aftermarket glass options when undergoing auto glass repair or windshield replacement. The company, with more than five decades of service, highlights how the choice of glass impacts safety, fit, and long-term performance in vehicles.

OEM-quality glass refers to material produced to the same specifications as the original equipment installed by vehicle manufacturers. This option typically provides precise fitment, consistent optical clarity, and compatibility with advanced driver assistance systems. In contrast, aftermarket glass varies in quality and may differ in thickness, curvature, or material composition, potentially affecting installation outcomes and vehicle safety features.

Technicians at Ryan & Gordy's Glass evaluate each vehicle's needs during assessments for rock chip repairs, crack fixes, or full replacements. Services cover windshields, side windows, rear glass, automotive mirrors, pickup truck rear sliders, topper glass, and installations for recreational vehicles and heavy equipment. The company uses premium materials, including Sika adhesives, to ensure durable and secure results that meet safety standards.

Mobile service allows certified technicians to perform auto glass repair and replacements at customer locations across the region, whether at home, work, or roadside. This flexibility helps minimize disruption to daily routines. The company also coordinates with insurance providers to streamline claims processing and offers loaner vehicles at its shops when shop service is selected. Free estimates detail available glass options and their suitability for specific vehicles.

For vehicles equipped with advanced safety technologies, proper installation and recalibration follow glass work to maintain functionality of systems such as lane departure warnings and collision avoidance. Technicians hold Auto Glass Association certifications and follow guidelines from the National Glass Association, ensuring adherence to industry best practices.

Ryan & Gordy's Glass operates locations in Hastings and Red Wing, Minnesota, and has served communities throughout Minnesota and Wisconsin since 1972. As a family-owned business and member of the National Glass Association, the company combines experience with ongoing training to address evolving automotive glass requirements, as well as residential and commercial needs.

Beyond automotive services, the company provides home glass solutions including custom shower doors, window replacements, mirrors, patio table tops, fireplace glass, tempered glass, and custom-cut Plexiglass and Lexan. Commercial offerings support businesses with storefront replacements, office installations, and industrial projects focused on quality and minimal downtime.

Jay Ryan, co-owner of Ryan & Gordy's Glass, said, "Selecting the right glass for auto glass repair or replacement makes a significant difference in how well the installation performs over time and integrates with modern vehicle systems."

Ryan added, "We guide customers through the options based on their vehicle type and usage, prioritizing solutions that enhance safety and reliability."

Customer reviews often note the professionalism in explaining options and completing work efficiently. One described a straightforward windshield replacement process with full support through insurance and recalibration. Another appreciated the mobile service and the attention to detail that quickly restored vehicle safety.

The company remains committed to educating the public on glass maintenance and quality standards. With summer driving seasons bringing increased road travel and the potential for debris-related damage, understanding glass choices helps make informed decisions about vehicle upkeep. Ryan & Gordy's Glass continues to deliver reliable services grounded in expertise and a focus on customer satisfaction across all glass applications.
