Health Mate Sauna Unveils Fully Integrated Infrared + Red Light Systems for the Home

June 26, 2026

CERRITOS, CA - June 26, 2026 -
Health Mate Sauna has expanded its wellness lineup with sauna systems that combine full-spectrum infrared heating and integrated red light therapy in a single, factory-built unit ? engineered to deliver both therapies without aftermarket panels, exposed wiring, or customer assembly.

This dual-technology approach supports multiple wellness objectives, including detoxification, muscle recovery, improved circulation, pain relief, and enhanced skin health through increased collagen production.

At the core of every system is Health Mate?s patented Tecoloy heater, which produces high-density full-spectrum infrared across the near, mid, and far wavelengths. Far-infrared in the 8?12 micron range ? the band most readily absorbed by human tissue ? drives the deep, detoxifying sweat the company is known for, while near and mid wavelengths support circulation, recovery, and skin health. This infrared engine is the therapeutic foundation of the experience.

Layered onto that foundation is integrated red light therapy, built directly into the cabin rather than added on. Because the panel is sealed into the system ? with no external fans, vents, or wiring to maintain ? it delivers even, full-cabin light designed to be used during preheat, on clean, dry skin, before the deep-sweat phase begins. The result is a sequenced session that pairs photobiomodulation with full-spectrum heat the way the protocol intends, in one space and one piece of equipment.

?Consumers want professional-level benefits without the complexity,? said Jack Karamian, Director of Product Development at Health Mate Sauna. ?By engineering both therapies into a single sealed system, we remove the trade-offs of bolt-on panels ? the exposed components, the assembly, the maintenance ? and give people something that simply works the moment it?s installed.?

Every system is built around a low-EMF design verified by third-party testing across heaters, controllers, and electrical components, with no external cooling hardware to fail in the heat. The sealed, fewer-moving-parts approach is also a durability advantage, backed by lifetime warranties on heating elements and comprehensive coverage on construction.

The line spans two-person models such as the Enrich 2 and Inspire 2 to four-person units like the Elevated Health and Therapy Lounge, all using eco-friendly materials and energy-efficient operation for residential installation. An interactive sauna quiz and flexible, transparent financing help match each customer to the right configuration.

The addition of Red Light Therapy Sauna capabilities introduces photobiomodulation benefits, using specific wavelengths of red and near-infrared light to stimulate cellular energy production. This technology has been studied for its potential effects on inflammation reduction, muscle recovery acceleration, and skin rejuvenation.

To assist consumers in selecting appropriate wellness solutions, the company has developed an interactive sauna quiz that evaluates individual health goals, space requirements, and usage preferences. This personalized approach helps match customers with suitable models from the expanded product line.

Health Mate Sauna backs its products with lifetime warranties on heating elements and comprehensive coverage on construction components, reflecting confidence in the durability and longevity of its systems.

The company has also introduced flexible financing options through partnerships with third-party providers, making the Best Home Infrared Sauna technology more accessible to a broader range of consumers. These financing programs offer transparent terms without hidden fees, allowing customers to invest in long-term wellness solutions through manageable payment plans.

Health Mate Sauna has specialized in infrared sauna technology for over 49 years, developing and manufacturing wellness solutions for residential and commercial applications. The company offers a comprehensive range of infrared saunas, accessories, and integrated therapy options designed to support various health and wellness objectives. With patented heating technology and eco-friendly construction practices, HealthMateSauna continues to advance home wellness solutions through innovation and quality manufacturing.
