June 23, 2026

LONGWOOD, FL - June 23, 2026 -
Stages of Life Medical Institute, a comprehensive pain and wellness clinic in Longwood, Florida, is drawing attention to the potential benefits of grapefruit seed extract as patients increasingly seek natural approaches to complement their medical treatments. The institute has incorporated discussions about this natural compound into its holistic wellness consultations, responding to rising patient interest in antimicrobial and antioxidant support options.

The medical institute, which specializes in pain management, hormone replacement therapy, and age-related health concerns, has observed a notable increase in patient inquiries about natural wellness supplements over the past year. This trend reflects a broader shift in healthcare where patients are seeking integrative approaches that combine conventional medical treatments with evidence-based natural therapies.

"We're seeing more patients who want to understand how natural compounds like grapefruit seed extract can support their overall health journey," said Dr. Klein, founder of Stages of Life Medical Institute. "While our primary focus remains on advanced medical diagnostics and evidence-based treatments, we believe in educating our patients about all aspects of wellness, including the potential role of natural antimicrobials and antioxidants in supporting their health goals."

Grapefruit seed extract has gained attention in recent years for its documented antimicrobial and antioxidant properties. Research has shown that this natural compound may offer antifungal benefits, making it of particular interest to patients dealing with various health challenges. The extract contains bioactive compounds including flavonoids and phenolic compounds that contribute to its therapeutic potential.

At Stages of Life Medical Institute grapefruit seed discussions are integrated into comprehensive treatment planning when appropriate. The clinic's approach involves evaluating each patient's unique health profile and determining whether natural supplements might complement their medical treatment plan. This personalized methodology aligns with the institute's commitment to addressing root causes of health issues rather than merely treating symptoms.

The institute's multidisciplinary approach combines advanced diagnostic capabilities with diverse treatment modalities. Services include comprehensive pain management for conditions ranging from chronic back pain to migraines, hormone replacement therapy for both men and women experiencing age-related hormonal changes, and cognitive health assessments using FDA-cleared technology. The on-site laboratory enables rapid diagnostic testing, allowing for timely treatment adjustments based on individual patient needs.

The growing interest in natural wellness options reflects changing patient preferences and increased awareness of integrative medicine approaches. Healthcare providers are increasingly recognizing the importance of addressing patient interest in natural therapies while maintaining focus on evidence-based medical treatments.

Stages of Life Medical Institute continues to evolve its practice to meet patient needs while maintaining its foundation in conventional medical excellence. The institute's team stays current with emerging research on both traditional medical treatments and complementary wellness approaches, ensuring patients receive comprehensive, informed care.

Founded by Dr. David S. Klein, who brings over 35 years of medical experience, Stages of Life Medical Institute has established itself as a leading provider of pain management and hormone therapy services in Central Florida. The institute's diagnostic-first approach and commitment to personalized treatment plans have made it a trusted resource for patients seeking relief from chronic pain, hormonal imbalances, and
