

Leven Rose Introduces Sea Buckthorn Oil For Added UV Protection

May 02, 2016

May 02, 2016 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Colorado Springs, Colorado based natural beauty company, Leven Rose, recently launched their Sea Buckthorn Oil for hydrating and healing skin. Sea Buckthorn is not actually from the sea but comes from a shrub. This oil has been found to keep skin hydrated, reduce red spots, and even repair damage from the sun or hyperpigmentation. More about the benefits of the oil can be seen at <https://www.levenrose.com/products/sea-buckthorn-oil-1-oz>.

Courtney Olson, with Leven Rose says, "Sea buckthorn is great for tightening up the skin and fighting signs of aging. You can add it to your sunscreen or just put a few drops directly on your skin. It acts as a great base layer before applying sunscreen and has some UV protecting properties.?"

This new oil is completely natural, 100 percent pure, unrefined with no added fragrances. Plus, Leven Rose Sea Buckthorn Oil is all organic and is of premium quality. "All of our products are pure," states Olson. "In addition, we do not promote testing on animals, so our products are also cruelty free."

Sea Buckthorn Oil comes in a one ounce bottle and is cold pressed. Available on the Amazon at <http://www.amazon.com/TRUSTED-Leven-Rose-Organic-Buckthorn/dp/B01DYLJRIW>. It can also be used to thicken and add shine to hair naturally. Sea buckthorn has essential fatty acids as well as Vitamins A and C, which help to strengthen hair and help it to grow and thicken naturally.

This oil can be massaged into the scalp or used as a leave-in hair conditioner. It has been used throughout history to treat sun damage and to heal minor wounds and scrapes, as well as to remove age spots.

Those interested in learning more about the oil can visit Leven Rose on their official website. Or can also follow the company on Instagram at <https://www.instagram.com/LevenRoseBeauty/>, to be alerted when new products are rolled out, and to learn new and unique ways of using current oils.
