

CVS Decks & Docks Expands Marine Construction Services

June 25, 2026

ORLANDO, FL - June 25, 2026 -

CVS Decks & Docks, a minority-owned, state-licensed marine construction company, has expanded its custom dock and seawall services for homeowners and businesses across Central Florida. The company, which holds Florida Certified General Contractor license CGC1534127 and is led by founder Camille Asmar, builds waterfront structures engineered for the region's heat, humidity, storm season, and shifting lake levels.

The expanded service now reaches property owners across Orange, Osceola, Seminole, Lake, and Volusia counties, including the lakefront communities surrounding the Butler Chain of Lakes and Lake Nona, along with Windermere, Dr. Phillips, Winter Garden, Ocoee, Kissimmee, Saint Cloud, Lake Mary, Sanford, Clermont, Mount Dora, and Leesburg. The company organizes its work around marine construction first, treating docks and seawalls as the structures that face the most constant exposure to water, ultraviolet light, and storm conditions.

"Every project starts as marine construction, because the water sets the rules," said Camille Asmar, founder of CVS Decks & Docks. "A dock or a seawall has to perform in conditions that change with the weather and the season, so the engineering has to come before the finish."

As a Florida Certified General Contractor, CVS Decks & Docks manages each project from permit acquisition through final walkthrough. The company holds manufacturer certifications that include TrexPro Gold, Fiberon Outdoor Pro, Deckorators Certified Pro, and MoistureShield Certified Installer, and it works with composite and PVC systems from TimberTech by AZEK and Wolf. Completed projects carry a two-year workmanship warranty, with manufacturer material warranties that extend up to 50 years depending on the products selected.

Docks and seawalls anchor the company's portfolio. CVS Decks & Docks builds residential and commercial docks in floating, stationary, and lift configurations, using pressure-treated lumber and low-maintenance composite, and it provides dock installation, framing, repair, piling work, hardware replacement, and storm-damage restoration. Boat lift installation and repair, dock roofs, and boat detailing complete the dock side of the business.

Custom seawalls protect shoreline property from erosion and wave action. The company installs vinyl seawalls and handles inspection, sealing, debris removal, piling maintenance, and erosion-control reinforcement. Each seawall is assessed for the soil, water depth, and wave exposure of the specific site, since conditions vary from one stretch of shoreline to the next across the region's lakes and waterways.

Storm season shapes much of the company's approach. CVS Decks & Docks accounts for hurricane-force wind, heavy summer rainfall, and fluctuating water levels when it engineers dock foundations and seawall reinforcement, and the crew follows job-site securing practices ahead of named storms. The same considerations guide material selection, where corrosion-resistant hardware and weather-stable decking are chosen to hold up through repeated wet seasons.

The same waterfront experience carries into the company's deck and outdoor living work. CVS Decks & Docks builds residential and commercial decks in composite, PVC, and wood, along with deck railing and integrated deck lighting, and it adds complementary structures such as pergolas, louvered pergolas, and outdoor kitchens to complete a finished waterfront property. These services are positioned as extensions of the core marine work rather than the center of the business.

Each project includes a free estimate and an in-house 3D design process that gives property owners a clear view of a finished dock, deck, or outdoor space before construction begins. The design step is intended to help clients make informed decisions about layout, materials, and finishes ahead of the build, and it allows changes to be made on screen rather than on site.
