August 24, 2026

Gulfport, Mississippi - August 24, 2026 -
Healy & Jordan, PLLC, a law firm with offices in Gulfport, Mississippi and New Orleans, Louisiana, has expanded its personal injury legal services to better serve residents of Covington, Slidell, and Mandeville, Louisiana. The firm's enhanced focus on St. Tammany Parish addresses the growing need for experienced legal representation in truck accident cases and other personal injury matters throughout the region.

The expansion comes as St. Tammany Parish continues to experience increased commercial traffic and transportation-related incidents. The firm's personal injury attorneys bring extensive experience handling complex injury cases, including those involving commercial trucks, maritime accidents, and wrongful death claims.

"St. Tammany Parish faces unique challenges with heavy commercial and local traffic creating increased risk for serious accidents," said Al Jordan, Partner at Healy & Jordan, PLLC. "Our expanded presence ensures that residents have immediate access to experienced legal counsel when they need it most, particularly given Louisiana's strict statutes of limitations for filing personal injury claims."

The firm's attorneys have collectively recovered approximately $50 million in settlements and verdicts for clients across Louisiana and Mississippi. Their experience spans multiple practice areas including personal injury, family law, criminal defense, wrongful death, auto accidents, corporate law, and maritime and offshore law.

Truck accidents remain a significant concern in the Covington area, with driver fatigue, mechanical failures, and distracted driving cited as leading causes. These incidents often result in catastrophic outcomes due to the size and weight of commercial vehicles. The firm assists clients with gathering crucial evidence, handling insurance negotiations, managing liability disputes, and representing them in courtroom proceedings when necessary.

Beyond truck accident cases, the firm provides comprehensive legal services to address various personal injury matters. This includes premises liability, product liability, medical malpractice, and workers' compensation claims. The firm operates on a contingency fee basis, meaning clients pay no fees unless they recover compensation.

"Every personal injury case requires thorough investigation and preparation at each stage of litigation," added Jordan. "Our approach combines aggressive representation with personalized attention to ensure each client's unique circumstances are properly addressed."

The firm also continues to assist Louisiana residents with hurricane storm damage claims, particularly those affected by Hurricane Ida. This additional service reflects the firm's commitment to addressing the diverse legal needs of Louisiana communities.

For residents seeking an injury lawyer in Covington LA, the expanded services provide local access to experienced legal representation. The firm offers free initial consultations to evaluate potential cases and discuss legal options.

Healy & Jordan, PLLC maintains its primary offices in Gulfport, Mississippi and New Orleans, Louisiana, serving clients throughout the Gulf Coast region. The firm's attorneys, George W. Healy IV and Albert R. Jordan IV, have appeared in more than 60 trials combined and handle cases involving negligence by individuals and businesses across Mississippi and Louisiana.
