June 30, 2026

June 30, 2026 -
Boyd Law Firm, a Brunswick-based personal injury practice serving all of coastal Georgia, has launched a comprehensive new website designed to provide accident victims with immediate access to critical legal resources and information during their most challenging times.

The new digital platform represents a significant investment in client accessibility and education, offering detailed information about personal injury claims, wrongful death cases, and product liability matters. The website serves residents across Glynn County, Camden County, McIntosh County, and surrounding communities including St. Simons Island, Jekyll Island, and Kingsland.

"When someone experiences a serious accident, they need more than just legal representation?they need a trusted advocate who understands the physical, emotional, and financial toll these events take on families," said Roy Boyd, founding attorney at Boyd Law Firm. "Our new website reflects our commitment to providing an authentic, transparent experience from the very first interaction. We want potential clients to learn more about our firm and understand their rights before they ever pick up the phone."

The firm's enhanced online presence comes at a critical time for coastal Georgia residents, as the region continues to see growth in both population and traffic volume. The practice handles a wide range of injury cases including automobile accidents, motorcycle crashes, tractor-trailer collisions, slip and fall incidents, and cases involving potentially dangerous products.

Beyond traditional personal injury matters, the firm has expanded its focus to include emerging areas of product liability law, including cases related to defective medical devices and dangerous consumer products. The new website provides comprehensive information about these complex cases, helping injured parties understand their legal options.

"We recognize that choosing an attorney after an accident is one of the most important decisions a person can make," added Boyd. "Our goal is to make it easier for people to stay connected with the Boyd Law Firm throughout their case, providing regular updates and maintaining open lines of communication. The new website is just one more tool in building those strong client relationships."

The firm operates on a contingency fee basis, meaning clients pay no attorney fees unless their case results in a recovery. This approach ensures that all accident victims have access to quality legal representation regardless of their financial situation. The practice has secured significant victories for clients, including an $8.2 million verdict for an injury victim.

Boyd Law Firm maintains offices at 1601 Reynolds Street in Brunswick and serves clients throughout coastal Georgia. The firm's team includes attorneys Roy J. Boyd Jr., Autumn N. Cocchi, and Andrew M. Ruberti, who collectively bring decades of trial experience to personal injury and wrongful death cases. The practice offers free initial consultations to help accident victims understand their legal rights and options.
