SAN ANTONIO, TX - July 02, 2026 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Farmers Insurance - Ulysses Campos has expanded its insurance portfolio to address evolving coverage requirements in the San Antonio market, introducing enhanced options across automobile, property, and commercial insurance categories.

The agency, operating as UC Insurance Agency under the Farmers Insurance network, has restructured its service offerings to accommodate changing risk factors and coverage demands specific to the San Antonio area. The expansion encompasses updated homeowners policies, automobile coverage modifications, and specialized business insurance products.

"Market analysis indicated gaps in coverage options for both residential and commercial clients in San Antonio," said Ulysses Campos, agency owner. "We have adjusted our portfolio to address these specific coverage needs, particularly in areas where standard policies may fall short."

The agency's homeowners insurance now includes expanded coverage parameters for properties in flood-prone areas and regions susceptible to severe weather events common to South Texas. Policy modifications address structural damage, personal property loss, and temporary living expenses resulting from covered perils. As a Home Insurance Agency San Antonio property owners utilize, UC Insurance Agency has incorporated localized risk assessments into its underwriting process.

Automobile insurance modifications reflect updated Texas Department of Insurance regulations and local accident statistics. The agency offers liability limits that meet state requirements while providing optional coverage for uninsured motorist protection and comprehensive damage coverage. Recent data from the Texas Department of Transportation showing increased accident rates on Interstate 35 and Loop 410 has influenced coverage recommendations for San Antonio drivers.

The agency has added specialty coverage options for recreational vehicles, watercraft, and classic automobiles, responding to increased ownership of these assets in the San Antonio metropolitan area. Life insurance products include term and permanent options with varying coverage amounts and premium structures.

Commercial insurance offerings have been restructured to serve small and medium-sized enterprises operating in San Antonio's diverse economic sectors. The agency provides general liability, commercial property, and workers' compensation coverage tailored to specific industry requirements. Business owners seeking Insurance For My Business can access coverage options that address operational risks unique to their industry sector.

"Insurance requirements vary significantly across different business types and sizes," noted Campos. "Manufacturing operations face different risks than retail establishments or professional service firms. Our approach involves analyzing specific operational exposures before recommending coverage structures."

Recent insurance industry data indicates that Texas ranks among the top five states for weather-related insurance claims, with hail damage and flooding representing significant loss categories. UC Insurance Agency has incorporated this data into its coverage recommendations, emphasizing the importance of adequate dwelling coverage and personal property limits.

The agency operates within Farmers Insurance's established framework while maintaining local decision-making authority for coverage recommendations and client service. This structure allows access to national underwriting resources while preserving responsiveness to local market conditions.

UC Insurance Agency serves the San Antonio market as an authorized Farmers Insurance agency, providing property, casualty, life, and commercial insurance products. The agency maintains offices in San Antonio and serves clients throughout Bexar County and surrounding areas.
