Concrete Commandos Expands Operations As A Concrete Contractor in Alpharetta

July 07, 2026

Alpharetta, Georgia - July 07, 2026 -

Concrete Commandos Alpharetta has opened a new office location to better serve residential and commercial clients throughout the greater Alpharetta area. The expansion comes as the concrete contractor experiences increased demand for its specialized services, including driveways, patios, foundations, and commercial concrete projects.

The new facility will enable the company to streamline operations and reduce response times for estimates and project scheduling. With over a decade of experience in the concrete industry, the company has built its reputation on delivering quality workmanship with fast turnarounds and transparent pricing.

"Opening this new office represents our commitment to the Alpharetta community and our growing client base," said Todd Dobson, President of Concrete Commandos Alpharetta. "This expansion allows us to better coordinate our crews, manage equipment, and ultimately provide faster service to both our residential and commercial customers."

The company specializes in a comprehensive range of concrete services designed to withstand Georgia's challenging climate conditions. Their driveway installations incorporate reinforced rebar placement and gravel base foundations to ensure proper drainage and long-term durability against heat and soil movement. For residential patios, the team constructs four-inch concrete slabs with wire mesh or rebar reinforcement, creating low-maintenance outdoor spaces that can handle heavy foot traffic.

Beyond residential projects, the company has established itself as a reliable partner for commercial developments. Their commercial concrete division handles large-scale projects including warehouse foundations, parking lots, loading docks, and retail developments. The company also provides specialized services such as slab leveling and slabjacking, using grout or foam injection techniques to repair uneven concrete surfaces without requiring demolition.

The new office location will serve as a central hub for project planning and customer consultations. The facility will house administrative operations while maintaining the company's commitment to providing free estimates and detailed project timelines to all clients.

"We've seen significant growth in both residential renovations and new commercial construction throughout the region," added Dobson. "This new office positions us to meet that demand while maintaining the quality standards and customer service that have defined our business for more than ten years."

The company's expansion reflects broader growth trends in the Alpharetta construction market, where both residential and commercial development continue to drive demand for specialized concrete services. The new facility will support the company's full range of offerings, from foundation and slab construction for new builds to concrete leveling services for existing structures.

Concrete Commandos Alpharetta maintains its commitment to using premium materials, including fiber mesh, gravel base, rebar, and quality sealers in all projects. The concrete contractor backs all work with a satisfaction guarantee and warranty, ensuring clients receive lasting value from their concrete investments. With the new office now operational, the company anticipates improved project coordination and enhanced service delivery throughout the greater Alpharetta area.
