

Restoration Health Chiropractic Offers Pediatric Chiropractic Care in Little Rock, AR

July 09, 2026

CONWAY, AR - July 09, 2026 -

Restoration Health Chiropractic provides pediatric chiropractic care in Little Rock as part of its neurologically-based corrective approach. The practice maintains a focus on gentle techniques for spinal alignment and nervous system function in children.

Restoration Health Chiropractic delivers care centered on proper spinal alignment for pediatric patients. Initial appointments for children include a consultation with a doctor to discuss health history and concerns. This is followed by a complete spinal examination with motion and static palpation, range of motion assessment, digital posture analysis, orthopedic and neurological testing, and digital motion X-rays. These evaluations inform personalized care plans.

The practice applies Chiropractic Biophysics techniques in pediatric care. A review published in the Journal of Contemporary Chiropractic examined 11 pediatric cases using Chiropractic Biophysics methods for cervical lordosis, reporting improvements in spinal alignment measures. The method draws on principles of anatomy, physiology, neurology, physics, and geometry.

Resources from the practice describe general approaches to supporting children through movement and spinal care. Materials reference natural methods for aspects of respiratory function and developmental comfort, consistent with the practice's educational content.

Dr. Michael Butler, Owner and Chief Vision Officer at Restoration Health Chiropractic, said, "Pediatric chiropractic care at the practice involves gentle methods to support spinal alignment and nervous system function in children."

The clinical team includes professionals with training relevant to family care. Dr. Michael Butler, a native of Hope, Arkansas, earned a bachelor's degree in nutrition from the University of Central Arkansas and his doctor of chiropractic degree from Life University. He received advanced training in Chiropractic Biophysics, pediatrics, maternal care, and full spine techniques.

Dr. Keith Beachy serves as Lead Doctor. An Arkansas native from Fort Smith, he holds board certifications in chiropractic and functional medicine and certification in neuropathy. He completed a bachelor's degree in exercise science from the University of Arkansas and his doctor of chiropractic degree from Parker University.

Reviews of chiropractic care in children, including a study in the Journal of Manipulative and Physiological Therapeutics, have noted limited support in some areas and indicated that serious adverse events are rare when care is provided by trained professionals.

The practice's mission is to serve the community through neurologically-based corrective chiropractic care. Its vision centers on empowering families to make informed health decisions. Patient education forms part of the process, providing information on spinal health for children.

The practice extends access for families in surrounding areas while maintaining the same protocols. The facility supports evaluations and care in a comfortable setting. Digital tools assist in monitoring aspects of alignment and function.

Restoration Health Chiropractic applies consistent approaches tailored to pediatric patients. Appointments follow structured processes with thorough assessment and customized plans. Educational materials complement care by outlining general habits for support.

This focus on pediatric chiropractic care aligns with the practice's role in family health. The team integrates evaluation findings to guide support for children. Patient education reinforces understanding of spinal mechanics.

Restoration Health Chiropractic operates with a foundation in chiropractic principles. Its pediatric services emphasize evaluation, corrective techniques, and family information. : Restoration Health Chiropractic provides pediatric chiropractic care in Little Rock focused on spinal alignment and nervous system function for children. Services include structured evaluations and Chiropractic Biophysics techniques, with team leadership from Dr. Michael Butler and Dr. Keith Beachy. This reflects the practice's approach to family wellness supported by available resources and studies.
