

Premier Deck Details Custom Composite Deck Building Services

July 14, 2026

ROCHESTER, NH - July 14, 2026 -

Premier Deck, a family-owned deck-building company based in Rochester, New Hampshire, designs and builds custom outdoor living spaces for homeowners across New Hampshire and Maine. The company offers a range of services, from new deck construction to finishing details, for residential and commercial properties.

As a TimberTech Platinum installer, Premier Deck builds primarily with composite and PVC materials, which are made to withstand the region's seasonal weather.

"Every project starts with how the homeowner plans to use the space, and the materials follow from there," said Steve Kirk, president of Premier Deck. "We build primarily with composite and PVC because they hold up to New England winters with less maintenance than traditional wood."

For new construction, Premier Deck designs and builds custom composite decks suited to each property. Composite generally outlasts wood and requires less upkeep, though the company also works with natural wood and PVC decking from Azek and TimberTech, helping clients select materials for their space, style, and budget. The company additionally builds pool decks made to resist moisture and regular use across multiple seasons.

For existing structures, Premier Deck offers redecking, which replaces worn boards with composite or PVC surfaces when the framing remains sound, updating a deck without the cost of a full rebuild. Its re-railing service replaces outdated or damaged railings with newer systems that change a deck's appearance and update its safety features.

Premier Deck also builds pergolas that add shade and structure for use during warmer months, and installs deck lighting that extends usable hours into the evening along with lattice work that adds privacy and finishes the lower portion of an elevated structure. Among its services is under deck drainage, a system that channels water away from the area beneath an elevated deck to create a dry, usable space for storage or recreation. For projects that require added structural support, the company installs helical piles, a foundation method used for decks built on challenging terrain.

Premier Deck provides a five-year workmanship warranty on its installations, and Azek decking carries a 50-year warranty on the material. The company builds outdoor structures exclusively and does not offer deck staining.

"Homeowners work with the same team from the first design conversation through the final walkthrough," Kirk said. "The workmanship warranty placed on each installation reflects how the company stands behind that process."

Premier Deck serves homeowners across New Hampshire and Maine, with completed projects throughout the Seacoast region.
