Running Boards in Salt Lake City Reflect Broader Truck Upgrade Trends

July 15, 2026

NORTH SALT LAKE, UT - July 15, 2026 -

Drivers looking to improve both function and appearance are placing greater attention on exterior truck accessories, and Truck Trim continues to serve that growing interest with products designed for everyday use. Alongside a long-standing selection of truck bed covers, Truck Trim provides running boards in Salt Lake City for truck owners seeking easier vehicle access, added stability when entering or exiting the cab, and a finished exterior appearance that complements modern pickups. As truck customization remains a practical investment for many owners, exterior upgrades have become an increasingly common part of routine vehicle improvements.

Pickup trucks are used for a wide range of purposes, from job sites and commercial fleets to family transportation and outdoor recreation. As vehicle designs continue to evolve, many drivers are selecting accessories that make daily use more convenient while preserving the truck's original character. Running boards have become one of the most frequently considered additions because they offer a practical stepping surface without dramatically altering the vehicle itself. Their value extends beyond appearance by making entry easier for passengers of different ages and mobility levels.

Truck Trim has developed its product selection around these changing customer needs while continuing to offer truck accessories from respected manufacturers throughout the industry. The company also carries Extang truck bed covers, a name that has played an important role in the truck accessory market for decades. Since 1982, Extang has introduced many of the product styles and features that later became common across the industry. In 2007, the company became part of the RealTruck family of brands, further expanding its connection to engineering, manufacturing, and product development within the truck accessory market.

That established history reflects the broader evolution of truck customization, where drivers increasingly look for accessories that balance everyday practicality with long-term durability. Truck bed covers remain a popular choice for protecting cargo and helping organize storage space, while exterior additions such as running boards continue to address the practical realities of getting in and out of larger vehicles. For many truck owners, these upgrades work together to create a vehicle that better fits both work responsibilities and personal use.

Interest in truck personalization has also grown as pickups continue to serve multiple roles throughout the week. A single vehicle may transition from commuting to hauling equipment, towing recreational trailers, or traveling on weekend trips. Because of that flexibility, many owners prefer accessories that support routine use rather than dramatic cosmetic changes. Running boards in Salt Lake City remain a common option for drivers who value accessibility while maintaining the rugged appearance associated with today's trucks.

Industry experience also shapes the guidance available through Truck Trim. Rather than focusing on a single accessory category, the company works with truck owners exploring a range of exterior and cargo management products based on their individual driving habits and vehicle needs. That practical approach allows customers to compare options that align with how their trucks are actually used instead of selecting accessories based solely on appearance.

Truck Trim is a truck accessory retailer serving customers with products that support utility, protection, and vehicle customization. The company offers truck bed covers, exterior accessories, including running boards in Salt Lake City, and additional truck enhancement products from recognized manufacturers. By providing established product lines and knowledgeable service, Truck Trim helps truck owners find accessories suited to everyday driving, work, and recreation.
