

College Fund Landscaping Reflects on Origins and Enduring Community Commitment

Lucas, Texas - July 15, 2026 -

College Fund Landscaping, a lawn care and landscaping company serving North Texas, continues to draw on its founding story as it marks nearly three decades of operations. The business, started by a local high school student seeking to fund his education, has expanded while maintaining a focus on both professional services and support for area students.

Matt Davis established College Fund Landscaping in 1996 while attending Plano Senior High School. What began as a lawn-mowing service to cover college expenses evolved into a full-service operation providing fertilization, weed control, mowing, tree and shrub care, landscaping installations, and seasonal maintenance to homeowners in Plano and surrounding communities. The company's name reflects its origins in education, a principle that has guided its activities since inception.

The business has sustained its connection to its roots through consistent community involvement, including annual scholarship programs that assist local high school seniors and college students. These efforts stem directly from Davis's experience navigating the costs of higher education through personal initiative and hard work. As the company has grown, it has allocated resources to help reduce financial barriers for students in the region, mirroring the circumstances that launched the enterprise.

“College Fund Landscaping started as a way for me to pay for college. Over time, it became something much bigger than just mowing lawns,” said Matt Davis, the owner of College Fund Landscaping.

College Fund Landscaping offers a range of services tailored to North Texas conditions, addressing common lawn challenges such as proper nutrient application, disease management, and appropriate maintenance schedules for local grass types. The company operates with licensed applicators and emphasizes reliable scheduling and quality results for residential properties. Its team undergoes ongoing training to maintain standards in lawn care and landscaping practices.

Over the years, the business has contributed to local initiatives beyond scholarships, including support for food security programs. These activities align with the founding vision that ties commercial success to broader community benefit. The company has earned recognition through customer feedback and industry acknowledgments while focusing on steady, practical service delivery.

“We’ve always believed that success means more than growing revenue. If we can help students create opportunities for themselves, that matters more than any yard we service. A lot of landscaping companies focus on grass. We try to focus on people too,” continued Matt.

The reflection on its origins comes as College Fund Landscaping approaches significant milestones in its history. The business continues to serve families across the area with an emphasis on long-term relationships and dependable results. Its model demonstrates how a small, purpose-driven operation can develop into a stable provider while preserving the values established in its early days.

This approach has allowed the company to adapt to changing local needs while upholding the educational ethos embedded in its name. Students who have benefited from its programs represent one measure of its impact, alongside the properties it maintains that contribute to vibrant neighborhood environments. The founding narrative remains central to operations, informing decisions about service delivery and community engagement efforts.

College Fund Landscaping provides lawn care and landscaping services to properties in the Plano area and nearby North Texas locations. The company consistently maintains its dedication to quality workmanship and community-oriented practices as it enters its third decade of business, remaining responsive to the evolving demands of its clientele and local ecosystem.
