

Casino Life Magazine Expands Editorial Coverage Across Global Casino Industry

July 21, 2026

July 21, 2026 -

Casino Life Magazine has announced an expansion of its editorial coverage as the publication continues to strengthen its reporting across the international casino and gaming industry. The development reflects the publication's ongoing commitment to delivering timely reporting, executive interviews, industry analysis, and coverage of developments affecting casino operators, suppliers, regulators, and other stakeholders worldwide.

Published by Outsource Digital Media Ltd, Casino Life Magazine has provided business-to-business coverage of the global casino sector since its launch in 2005. The publication reports on developments spanning casino operations, technology, management, gaming equipment, regulatory issues, major industry events, and business announcements, serving professionals across both land-based and online gaming markets.

The expanded editorial focus will see continued publication of interviews with industry executives, analysis of emerging market developments, coverage of international exhibitions and conferences, and reporting on operational trends shaping the casino sector. Alongside its digital publication, Casino Life Magazine also continues to publish its long-running print edition, providing readers with multiple ways to access industry news and features.

Alongside its editorial reporting, Casino Life Magazine continues to publish ten issues each year in both print and digital formats, enabling the publication to reach readers across multiple platforms. The publication's audience includes casino owners, senior management teams, regulators, manufacturers, suppliers and other professionals working throughout the international gaming sector. In addition to regular news coverage, each edition features exclusive interviews, operational case studies, technology updates and analysis of legislative developments affecting the industry. According to the publication, its editorial strategy places particular emphasis on producing original content rather than republishing existing news, with articles designed to provide longer-term industry insight alongside current reporting. This combination of original features and ongoing business coverage supports the publication's role as a resource for professionals monitoring developments across the global casino industry.

Peter White, Publisher of Casino Life Magazine, said, "The casino industry continues to evolve across multiple markets, creating demand for reliable reporting and informed analysis. Our editorial team remains focused on covering the developments that matter to professionals working throughout the sector while maintaining the publication's commitment to independent business journalism."

In addition to its editorial features, the publication continues to report on international casino openings, technology launches, supplier developments, regulatory changes, and business partnerships affecting the wider gaming industry. The publication's coverage also includes dedicated reporting available through the casino news section, where readers can follow ongoing news and editorial content covering developments from around the world.

Casino Life Magazine states that its editorial approach remains centred on factual reporting and industry developments rather than consumer-focused content. This enables the publication to continue serving decision-makers, manufacturers, suppliers, operators, consultants, and other professionals seeking information about developments across the international casino business.

The publication also maintains an active presence on social media, where readers can follow updates from Casino Life Magazine on X (twitter) alongside its regular editorial output.

Since its establishment more than two decades ago, Casino Life Magazine has continued to expand its international coverage while reporting on significant developments across the global gaming sector. The publication's editorial output includes business news, interviews, operational insight, technology reporting, and event coverage intended to inform professionals working throughout the casino industry.
