

Camp EZ RV Highlights Expansion of Recreational Vehicle Options Including UTVs and EV Golf Carts

July 17, 2026

WILLIS, TX - July 17, 2026 -

As July recreational activities accelerate in Texas, many owners are incorporating additional vehicles to complement their RV experiences. Camp EZ RV, a family-owned and operated dealership with locations in Livingston, Willis, and Clute, Texas, has noted growing demand for UTVs, ATVs, and EV golf carts as part of broader ownership portfolios. With nearly 30 years of combined industry experience in RV and marine sales, service, storage, and support programs, the company observes these additions as a way to enhance versatility for seasonal outings.

The inclusion of UTVs and ATVs alongside traditional RVs allows owners to access off-road or trail-based activities that pair well with campground stays. EV golf carts provide quiet, efficient options for resort-style or community travel, supporting travel readiness without traditional fuel demands. These offerings integrate with route preparation for long-distance RV travel by expanding destination possibilities that include varied terrain.

Campground and destination planning benefits from the flexibility of multi-vehicle setups, where owners coordinate logistics for both road and local exploration. Travel readiness and operational preparation extend to maintenance across vehicle types, ensuring compatibility with towing awareness and vehicle limitations.

Fuel planning and travel efficiency gain from electric options that reduce consumption during shorter excursions.

Weather awareness and seasonal travel considerations influence selections, with durable UTVs suited for rugged summer conditions and low-emission golf carts ideal for sensitive areas. RV inspections and pre-trip preparation often include checks for towing compatibility with these additions, promoting safe travel practices for RV owners. Adapting travel plans to vehicle size, terrain, and road conditions becomes more comprehensive when multiple units are involved.

Modern ownership increasingly features diversified fleets, with programs like CampEZ RV Advantage supporting maintenance across categories through loyalty systems and extended care. Marine products, such as pontoon boats and Yamaha outboard motors, further round out options for water-based July activities. Preventative preparation across this range contributes to long-distance travel reliability for the primary RV while enabling varied adventures.

"Owners are building more complete recreational setups this summer, incorporating UTVs, ATVs, and EV golf carts to match their lifestyle needs," said Justin Massey, Owner of Camp EZ RV. "Our service and sales interactions at the Texas locations show how these additions support coordinated planning and operational readiness across different environments."

The trend underscores connections between route planning, vehicle readiness, and seasonal conditions in multi-asset ownership. Integrated support helps owners manage maintenance before travel for all units, enhancing travel flexibility and preparedness. As systems evolve, dealership expertise in diverse categories aids in seamless integration.

Camp EZ RV responds to these patterns by maintaining selections and service capabilities that address owner demands for variety. The family-operated model emphasizes practical combinations that fit Texas summer recreation, from trail exploration to community mobility. Participants benefit from unified support that simplifies ownership across vehicle types.

This expansion reflects broader RV industry shifts toward comprehensive recreational solutions. By offering UTVs, ATVs, EV golf carts, and marine products alongside core RV services at its three locations, Camp EZ RV assists owners in creating tailored experiences. The approach prioritizes reliability and convenience for sustained seasonal engagement.

Ultimately, diversified vehicle options bridge traditional RV use with expanded activities. They encourage systematic preparation that supports safer, more versatile travel. Through its role in the recreational sector, Camp EZ RV continues to facilitate these developments for owners navigating July and beyond.
