

daylight AG Expands Education Management System for Swiss Institutions

September 24, 2026

Winterthur, ZH - September 24, 2026 - daylight AG, a Swiss software developer based in Winterthur, has continued the expansion of its integrated education management system for schools, training providers, and event organizers across Switzerland. The company, which specializes in software for school administration, course management, examination processing, event coordination, and accounting operations, has focused recent development on unifying these functions within a single modular platform designed for the specific needs of educational institutions.

The platform brings together administrative processes that many educational organizations have traditionally managed through separate tools. Core functions include people and address management, the administration of courses, seminars, and events, registration handling, resource planning, accounting, and marketing with customer relationship management. Institutions can also create online portals or e-shops for their programs, with automated processes for registration, confirmation, and payment. The software integrates with established financial applications and can be operated as an in-house installation or as a cloud service, adapting to an institution's existing IT environment.

daylight AG has developed its solutions over more than two decades of operation. The company reports that its multilingual system is designed to reduce manual administrative work and allow educational institutions to direct more resources toward student success and learning outcomes. The modular structure permits organizations to adopt only the components relevant to their operations and to scale as requirements change. Information about the company can be found through its listing on Google Maps.

Recent development activity reflects steady updates across the product range. The company launched software tailored for school administration tasks in July 2025, and during the preceding months released an update to its event management platform, prepared the introduction of new course management solutions, and delivered a major update to its accounting software for education. These developments form part of an ongoing effort to keep the education management system aligned with the operational demands of schools, small and medium-sized enterprises, and independent training providers.

daylight AG maintains a public presence where prospective institutions and interested parties can review its offerings. More information can be found at its dedicated PA organization page. The company positions its platform as fully Swiss-developed and hosted, a factor that carries particular relevance for institutions handling sensitive administrative and financial data under national data standards.

The expansion arrives as educational organizations across Switzerland face growing pressure to modernize administrative operations, consolidate fragmented systems, and manage increasing volumes of registration, examination, and financial data. daylight AG addresses these demands through automation and unified data management, aiming to replace disconnected processes with a coordinated digital workflow.

daylight AG is a Swiss software company headquartered in Winterthur. For more than twenty years, the company has developed software solutions for school administration, course and seminar management, examination processing, event coordination, and accounting for educational institutions and training providers. Its multilingual, modular platform combines administrative functions into a single system that can be operated in-house or through a cloud service. The company serves organizations, small and medium-sized enterprises, and education providers throughout Switzerland, with an emphasis on intelligent automation, digital marketing, and streamlined process design.
