Xarelto Lawsuit Plaintiffs Claim Drug Caused Dangerous Internal Bleeding

May 12, 2016

May 12, 2016 -
BloodThinnerHelp.com reports on plaintiff's allegations in a Texas lawsuit filed against the manufacturers of Xarelto, Bayer Healthcare and Janssen Pharmaceuticals, a subsidiary of corporate giant Johnson and Johnson. The plaintiffs in this particular case are a couple, who claim that Bayer and Janssen failed to warn patients and medical professionals of the dangerous risks related to the use of Xarelto, a blood-thinning drug.

Xarelto has been on the market for approximately 5 years and was very popular with patients since they had much more freedom and flexibility with this drug than with blood thinners used before its release. Today, however, the drug is immersed in controversy, with over 3,400 lawsuits having been filed grounded in very similar allegations that it increased the risk for dangerous and uncontrollable bleeding in patients both internally and externally.

The female plaintiff in this particular case alleges to have been prescribed Xarelto as a treatment for her atrial fibrillation and to minimize the risk of stroke which she was deemed to be more susceptible to due to that medical condition related to her heart. She alleges that she had only used the drug for 5 months when she experienced a very sudden onset of life-threatening internal bleeding that has left her struggling with long-term medical issues.

This lawsuit initiated by the Texas couple was initially filed in the Eastern District of New York under case number 1:14-cv-04524. However, since the decision made by the U.S. Judicial Panel for Multidistrict Litigation (JPMDL) to consolidate cases in Eastern Louisiana was handed down, this case was transferred to that multidistrict litigation (MDL) and was assigned number MDL 2592. Complaints against the drug continue to increase while the numerous plaintiffs involved in this MDL await their day in court.

The Osborne firm is offering free consultations to anyone who suffered injury or hospitalization after a bleed while on Xarelto. Call (866) 425-8902 for more information about this release or the Xarelto litigation.
###
For more information about BloodThinnerHelp.com, contact the company here:BloodThinnerHelp.comJoseph

Osborne866-425-8902Mizner Park433 Plaza Real Blvd., Ste. 271Boca Raton, FL 33432

BloodThinnerHelp.com

BloodThinnerHelp.com is a resource for those who are seeking information about Xarelto wrongful death lawsuits.

Website: http://bloodthinnerhelp.com

Phone: 866-425-8902