GrassRoots Turf provides weed control service, lawn fertilization, lawn aeration, disease management, and liquid aeration, as well as specialized fertilization for trees and shrubs. Mosquito control is also available, providing an additional layer of property care during the warmer summer months when pest activity increases.

GrassRoots Turf backs its variety of lawn care programs with the Weed Free® guarantee, built on a commitment to consistent, results-driven lawn care and maintenance. Property owners and homeowners who become customers receive scheduled lawn treatments designed around the seasonal needs of Georgia turf.

Donnie Winfield, owner-operator of the McDonough location, said his lawn care service responds to steady demand from local homeowners and businesses seeking dependable lawn care maintenance in the area.
"Turf in this region faces a distinct set of seasonal challenges, from summer heat stress to persistent weed pressure," Winfield said. "The wide range of lawn programs available in McDonough allows our lawn care company to address those conditions with lawn treatments matched to the local climate and soil here in Georgia."

?Since we?re family-run, you get the same people caring for your lawn from start to finish,? Winfield said. ?That consistency for customers' lawns makes a big difference when you?re working to improve the grass in a lawn over time.?

?We try to run GrassRoots Turf in McDonough the way we'd want a company to treat our own yards,? Donnie continues; ?That means keeping detailed records of every treatment so customers can see exactly what we did, and spreading the cost into a low monthly fee instead of hitting people with big one-time bills. Lawn care is one of those things people don't have time to keep up with, and our job is to take it off their plate and do it right."
