Thomas A. Narsete, MD, a plastic surgeon in Denver, CO, is proud to announce that he is now able to offer the Brazilian butt lift. The plastic surgery Denver clinic already offers a wealth of other procedures, and people are encouraged to make an appointment for a consultation to see how they can improve their body. The Brazilian butt lift is already proving to be popular.

Dr. Narsete himself says: "I aim to offer my patients the ability to look as good as they possibly can. Committed to always offering the most up to date techniques and procedures, I have spent a significant amount of time training for the Brazilian butt lift procedure. Having completed this, I am now happy to be able to offer this to my patients."

The Brazilian butt lift is a unique plastic surgery procedure that uses patients' own tissue to enhance their derriere. It is used in combination with liposuction, as fat tissue is first removed from one problem area, before being reinserted into the behind. One of the things that makes this procedure popular is that it uses natural tissue, which means the chance of the body rejecting it is significantly reduced.

Those who have had procedures completed with the Denver plastic surgeon have been incredibly pleased with the results. "Thank you for creating great results and giving me an enormous amount of self-esteem," says Dan C. on the clinic's Google+ page. "I have been your patient for over fifteen years and I am excited with the positive results I receive. You make me feel very comfortable and confident when we have a consultation. I attribute my contentment to your ability of being a good listener and very understanding. Your ability to explain what I can expect for results is very reassuring to me. Also, the staff in the front office is very supportive and makes me feel very important as a patient and I can call them with questions and they are very helpful."

Those interested in the best Brazilian butt lift results in Denver are encouraged to contact the clinic as soon as possible.
